NOTICES

HEALTH ADVISORY - CDC has issued a travel alert (Level 2 - Practice Enhanced Precautions) regarding Zika virus transmission for people traveling throughout the Caribbean, Central / South America, Mexico, Oceania / So. Pacific Islands, Southeast Asia and Cape Verde, Africa. CDC has also identified an area in one neighborhood of Miami known as Wynwood, where Zika is being spread by mosquitoes. Pregnant women should not travel to that area (Wynwood). Zika virus is spread primarily through the bite of an infected mosquito, which bites in the day and night, and lives both indoors and outdoors. Other modes of spread, including sexual transmission, have been reported. Only 20% of people infected with Zika virus show symptoms which most commonly include fever, headache, skin rash, joint pain and conjunctivitis (red eyes). The illness is usually mild with symptoms lasting from 2-7 days. Although serious complications and deaths are uncommon, recent increases in birth defects and neurological syndromes are being reported. The CDC travel health advisory particularly impacts women who are pregnant (in any trimester) and women who are trying to become pregnant. There is no vaccine to prevent or medicine to treat Zika. Travelers can protect themselves by preventing mosquito bites and taking precautions including using insect repellents, wearing clothing which covers exposed skin and adopting safe sex practices. Pregnant women in any trimester should consider postponing travel to areas where Zika virus transmission is ongoing. Pregnant women who must travel to one of these areas should talk to their doctor or other healthcare provider first and strictly follow steps to avoid mosquito bites during the trip. Women trying to become pregnant who are thinking about becoming pregnant should consult with their healthcare provider before traveling to these areas and strictly follow steps to prevent mosquito bites during the trip. Mosquito repellent is available in the ship's gift shop or medical facility. For further information contact CDC at <http://www.cdc.gov/zika/index.html>

Symptoms of Noroviruses include an upset stomach, vomiting and diarrhea. According to the United States Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Noroviruses affect 23 million Americans on land each year. In fact, the only illness that is more prevalent is the common cold. Should you experience any gastrointestinal illness, please call the medical staff by dialing 1200 for a complimentary consultation and treatment.
- SEAPASS CARDS – Please Note: That your SeaPass card should not be placed next to other credit cards, cell phones or magnets as they can damage the magnetic band and stop them from working.
